

ZEUS Stuttgart Guide

Version 2009-02-18

Venue Information

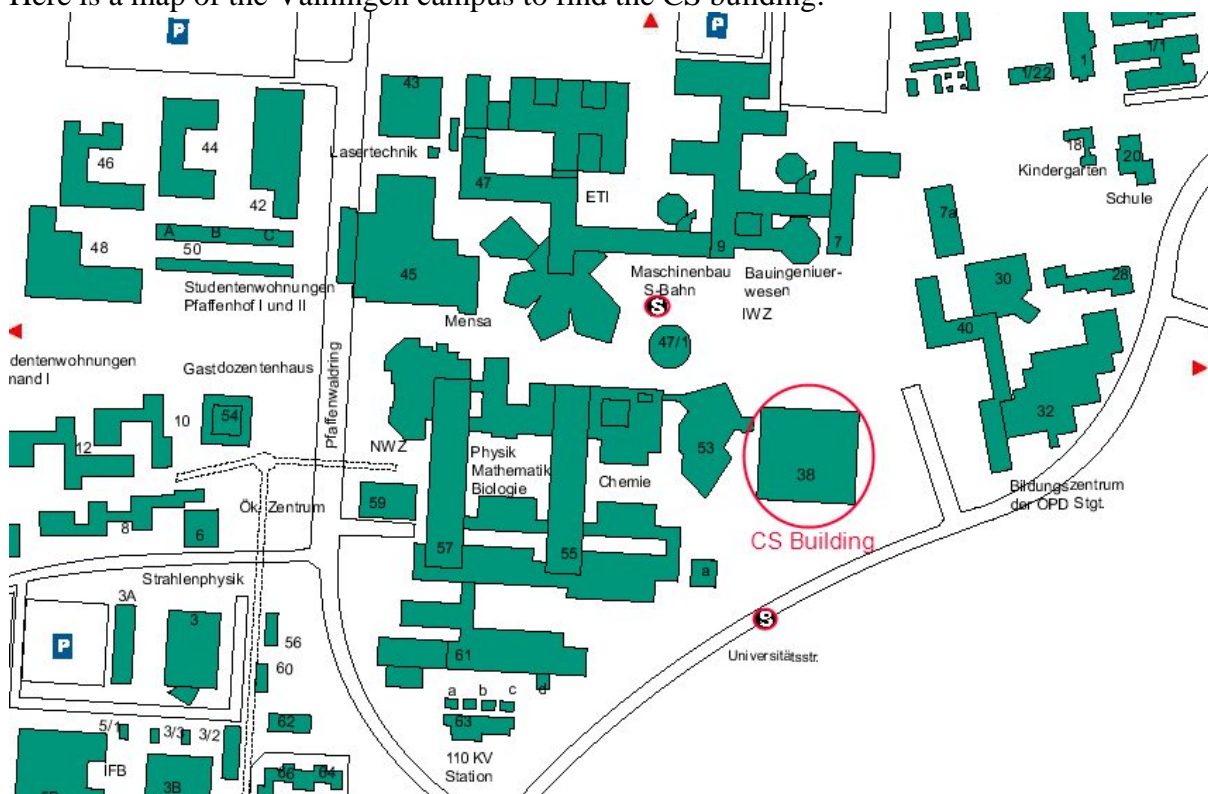

The workshop will take place in the Computer Science (CS) building of University of Stuttgart, which is situated 15 km from Stuttgart Airport. The Institute of Architecture of Application Systems (IAAS) is located on the first floor in the CS building. There is very good public transport available via S-Bahn (see public transport section for more information), that can bring you in about 15 minutes from the Airport to the university.

The CS Building of University of Stuttgart has the following address:

Universitätsstraße 38
70569 Stuttgart
Germany

<http://www.informatik.uni-stuttgart.de/index.en.html>

The Vaihingen Campus Map can be found at: <http://www.uni-stuttgart.de/lageplan/vaihingen/>

Here are the directions from the Airport (“Flughafen”) via S-Bahn:

From the Airport (“Flughafen”) the S-Bahn lines S2 (direction “Schorndorf”) and S3 (direction “Backnang”), both via main station (“Hauptbahnhof”), go to the station “Universität”. The travel time is about 15 minutes, trains depart all 5 - 10 minutes

Here are the directions from the Main Station (“Hauptbahnhof”) via S-Bahn:

From the main station ("Hauptbahnhof") the S-Bahn lines S1 (direction Herrenberg), S2 & S3 (both direction airport "Flughafen") go to the station “Universität”. The travel time is 10 minutes, trains depart all 5 to 10 minutes.

Note:

The University of Stuttgart is divided into two main parts. One is directly in the city; the other one (this is where we are) is in a part of the city called “Vaihingen”. Please do not confuse the city part “Vaihingen” with “Vaihingen an der Enz” or Vaihingen (E) in short. This is another city 30km outside of Stuttgart.

Cash, Taxis and public transportCash

There are many ATMs available at the Airport and in the City. Additionally, there are 2 ATMs available directly on the campus. There should be no problem getting cash with any major credit card or international debit card (“Maestro” or “Electronic Cash (EC)”).

Taxis

We chose every Hotel to be in walking distance of public transport (S-Bahn or U-Bahn) so that you will not need a taxi. However, Taxis are available everywhere.

Public transport

Stuttgart has a well established public transport system. The city is covered by a big network of S-Bahn and U-Bahn stations. Also, there are a number of Busses available. Together, public transport can bring you to virtually any place within Stuttgart. Please see the maps at <http://www.vvs.de/en/plaene.php> for details.

To get travel information go to <http://www.vvs.de> and choose “Universität” (“Stuttgart / Universität (Stop)”) as target.

There are information terminals and ticket machines available where you can buy tickets on every S-Bahn or U-Bahn station.

Internet

Wireless internet access will be available. Please respect the closed laptop policy during the sessions. You will have enough time at the breaks to check for urgent emails.

Hotel Reservation

Here are the Hotels we chose for you. They are all close to public transport and have their room rates at an affordable level. They all confirmed that they accept reservations by phone, fax, email and their website. You can choose which way you want to go. Feel free to search other hotels via hrs.com, hotel.de or expedia.de.

You can stay either in Stuttgart-Vaihingen (see “Hotels in Vaihingen”), which is close to University and very calm in the evenings. We think this is the best choice if you want to work in your Hotel room.

If you want to explore the city and stay in the center which is a bit busier, we recommend the hotels under (“Hotels in the City Center”).

However, both choices are about 6 S-Bahn stops or about 15 minutes away from each other. You can therefore still easily go to the city if you stay in Vaihingen. Your way home is the just about 20 minutes instead of 5 minutes or less when staying at the city center.
